It is quite interesting to note to read from a recent letter written by Mrs. L. B. Black from San Francisco, that the much admired, may some of the prize pieces, in the fine arts display of the San Diego exposition, which the signature of a one-time Wacoan, E. W. Cuprien, formerly of the Baylor music faculty. These Cuprien studies are much studied, the most impressive in Mrs. Black's judgment, being a view of the Pacific Ocean. The "Cupriens" are the prize pictures. Mrs. Black remarked that the painter was a former townsman of hers, and the woman in attendance expressed grave doubt that such an artist could ever have called "Texas" home. It is interesting to hear of Mr. Cuprien's successes.

Mrs. Black in speaking of social courtesies refers especially to Mr. and Mrs. Hernandez Wood and the J. D. Shaw household. Miss Miriam Black is now due in Waco to make ready for

MRS. A. W. KOCH RETURNS FULL OF NEW IDEAS

During her absence of several months, consumed with extensive travel, Mrs. A. W. Koch gathered many ideas which she now passes on for the Women's department of the Cotton Palace. Her keen power of observation together with her deep interest in all features of the Waco exposition. She has visited county fairs, seen children's pageants, studied conduct of better baby shows, and, in general way, applied eight-seeing and study to conditions here. As woman manager for 1914, Mrs. Koch is intimately conversant with details of the Cotton Palace women's department. Together with Mrs. W. O. Wilkes, as general woman manager, activity in all features of the women's work will be pushed rapidly. In returning, Mrs. Koch is free to say that, everywhere she went, the Cotton Palace was known; also, she tells it among her home people that nowhere did she find anything to compare with artistic effect, unique conduct, and general attraction as is our own Cotton Palace, the pride of all Waco.

CURRENT EVENT CLUB SENDS NEW YEAR BOOK

Through courtesy of the president, Mrs. W. G. Wigley, a copy of the new year book for the Current Event club is at hand. No club in the city comes nearer realizing the spirit of its motto than the Current Event club, which is to be a club of harmony, peace, and good will. Club loyalty is manifest in every procedure. With such harmony in the past, there can be nothing but success for the future. The club opens with middle October, with scarce a change from former membership members with one or two who were substitutes last season. The program was in charge of the Mesdames Abner McLeod, Jessie Gray Smith, Bolivar Nettles and Miss Annie Forsgard. The only other standing committee is that of membership for which Mrs. McLeod is also chairman. The officers to serve within the incoming year are: President, Mrs. W. J. Do not complain of health conditions in your city because the mosquitoes are bad. Do you not know these have been driven inland by the millions because of the terrific winds on the coast.

Game suppers, bird roasts, and other social affairs in keeping with the order of gayety for the past few days, our taffetas for the autumn will bear the linking suggestion of summer touches of the bright flowered, ruffled, and fringed. Vogue says this, and Vogue knows.

Mrs. F. P. Culver of Austin avenue leaves later in this month to take class work in applied interior decoration, history of architecture, and other interesting subjects in the State University. Miss Prather goes down in her car and expects to make frequent overland visits home during the school year.

Girls who put all manner of abnormal twist to the spelling of their names need not expect the Morning News to do likewise. The correct thing is the good, old fashioned spelling of good old fashioned names.

Can it be true that the average letter written by a woman and that letter repeated with all her correspondence, uses just fifty words? Surely women command more extensive vocabulary than this, and yet, an ex-

For the next few days Mrs. Walter Jersig of Kingsville, is with her sister, Mrs. W. F. Curran, Lyle avenue.

Among arrivals due for the incoming week is that of Mrs. W. S. Gillespie with the Misses Gillespie, of Rose Park Place. They have summered in California.

Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Clifton left North Carolina for a sojourn at Hot Springs, Ark. They are now in Tate Springs, Tenn., their last stop before returning home.

Her immediate cause for absence being to enter Allan Sanford into the Bingham Military school at Asheville.

Notice to Subscribers
Delivery routes in the city of Waco are in the hands of independent carriers, who buy their papers at wholesale prices. Subscriptions are made direct to the Waco Morning News. They are under heavy bond, not only to give the best delivery service, but to pay for their papers each month. Their remuneration is the difference between the wholesale price and the retail price which they receive from subscribers. This margin of profit is such that they cannot afford to extend credit, except month by month. They are not required, and they are advised against, delivering the paper to anyone who does not pay in accordance with the above subscription terms. These carriers are all earnest, hard working men and they will appreciate any courtesy shown them.

The Morning News should be delivered throughout the city of Waco by 6:30 a. m. and subscribers failing to receive the paper at that time will confer a favor by phoning the Circulation Department, both phones 1132, and a copy will be sent by special messenger.

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of the Morning News will be gladly corrected upon its being brought to the attention of the management.

LOCAL BANKERS SHOULD ACT.

Bankers of Waco, in the heart of the cotton-producing section of Texas, owe it to the farmers of Waco's trade territory, to themselves, to the Chamber of Commerce and the city of Waco, which has provided a free warehouse for the storage of cotton, to make a statement of the interest they are going to charge on money loaned on properly stored cotton, the amount of money that will be advanced on a single bale, the conditions of extension in case an extension should be desired by reason of the unsatisfactory price of cotton, and the full duty to be performed by the farmers in order to avail themselves of the loan. Mayor Riggins, as chief executive of the city, is quite within his rights, in view of what the city has done to help the cotton holding movement along, to urge the bankers to take immediate action in this direction so that the farmers may know what they can depend upon.

Houston, Dallas, Tyler, and numerous other towns of the state have already signified their readiness to loan money on warehoused cotton at 6 per cent and Carrollton, a small town in Dallas county, has announced its readiness, through its bankers, to advance $35 per bale at 6 per cent. This is doubtless intended to advertise the town as well as to help the farmer, but there is no reason why it should not do both.

As we understand it, the proceeds of the $30,000,000 loan which the secretary of the treasury will place with the three federal reserve banks of the cotton region will be loaned to the member banks at 3 per cent on the condition that it be loaned on cotton at 6 per cent. This means that if Waco banks employ any of this special fund they will have to loan it at 6 per cent. Three per cent is a narrower margin than banks are used to obtaining on their money but the cotton situation presents an emergency that ought to be met in the right spirit. As the bankers have been sponsoring the warehouse movement they should show their good faith by contributing toward the success of the movement by providing money at a rate cheap enough to make that success possible.

The one great difficulty in the way, from the banker's viewpoint, we are informed, is the difficulty of convincing the farmer that money can not always be loaned to him at the low rate of 6 per cent, and meeting the objections of city customers that the farmers have been favored above them. But if the federal reserve board and the secretary of the treasury recognize in the cotton situation a crisis that must be met by extraordinary means, then the farmers and business men of the city must recognize this fact, also, and the local bankers will be relieved of the bulk of the responsibility for the commission of an act which some may seek to characterize as favoritism.

The cotton crop is being rapidly gathered, and the price has not yet reached 10 cents, the figure which must be secured, it is generally conceded, to make even a small profit for the farmer. If Waco bankers have not yet formulated their program of service to the farmers they should do so at once and then announce it that the men who raise the cotton may know definitely what to depend upon.

School boys and girls, engaged in their debates, can find a new illustration of the fact that the pen is mightier than the sword in the outcome of the president's latest correspondence with Germany.

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR THE PEN.

In the twenty-two concrete recommendations for the improvement of the affairs of the state penitentiary, just made by the senate investigating committee, there is embodied the most important contribution that has been made to the discussion of the penitentiary problem that has appeared in this state in several years. A notable thing is that despite the fact that the members of the committee were all politicians, there is very little of politics in the suggestions made and the Morning News finds itself in agreement with the majority of them.

Probably the most important recommendation is that one which would place the commissioners upon a per diem compensation, and require that the commissioners appoint a general manager at a liberal salary to act as the executive head of the entire system and its industries. We have ample proof of the fact that the present government of the system by three commissioners, all of equal authority, is a failure from a business standpoint, and one single authority with ability and power to act appears to be the only satisfactory solution.

Close akin to this recommendation is that one which provides that the commissioners shall not be required to reside at Huntsville. This provision of the law precluded one of the best qualified men in the state for the position of commissioner from accepting the appointment and it will probably do so again if that proviso remains in the law.

The rehabilitation of the iron industry is also recommended, but that subject has been dealt with so thoroughly in these columns recently as to demand no further comment at this time.

With the recommendation that the manufacturing industries of the penitentiary be required to manufacture everything that it is possible for them to do in supplying the other state institutions, we are in sympathy, but we would not restrict the output of the factories to such products absolutely nor would we see a hard and fast rule that none of the products of the factories should be sold commercially. A few years ago when a box factory was operated at Rusk a large bill of goods was sold in Cuba at a big profit and without bringing the pen-made goods into competition with free labor. We see no reason why this should not be done again if opportunity should offer.

That the farming methods employed on the pen properties should be modernized and systematized and silos installed there is no question. The farms for the past several years have been operated at a large loss and there can be no doubt, we think, but that much of this loss has been due to poor management.

The substitution of commutation in time rather than financial remuneration for the convicts, with a loss of all commutation in case of misconduct, is an important recommendation. Where the time a man serves is dependent upon his conduct he will watch his steps closely if he has any manhood in him at all, and most of the convicts have some manhood left. With the recommendation for the establishment of a merit system for the employees of the system we are also in sympathy.

One of the recommendations to the effect that the commissioners should not be allowed to create or install new industries, purchase additional lands or sell any of the physical properties of the system without the concurrence of the governor and the legislature is entirely too rigid, for unusual opportunities for sale or purchase might present themselves at a time when a session of the legislature was nearly two years distant, and few if any deals would justify calling a special session of the legislature to authorize them. It is quite well that the assent of the governor should be required in important deals but not that of the legislature.

Minor recommendations include modification of the eight-hour day for farm laborers, sale of the Ramsey and Imperial farms, and the purchase of such additional farms as will render it unnecessary to lease any lands for the system.

We had hoped that the affairs of the penitentiary might be straightened out without another session of the legislature, but as it appears that another session will be held late in the fall or during the winter, anyhow, we trust the lawmakers will give intelligent consideration to the recommendations of the senate committee, for many of them are vital.

Now that September has arrived we shall look for a recurrence of church oyster suppers.

The Y. M. B. L. might hasten the coming of boats on the Brazos by pledging its famous siren whistle to the first boat to reach a Waco wharf.

It is now believed that T. R.'s violent hatred of the Germans was augmented by the fact that William Barnes compared him to Bismarck.

DEFECTS OF INCOME TAX LAW.

The National Tax association, which includes some of the ablest political economists in the country—students of the tax and assessment problems, presented, at its recent convention in San Francisco, a report on the income tax law which would be a valuable aid to congress if it ever takes up the task of rewriting and reforming our present income tax statute and striking out of it the many serious defects and injustices it contains, informs the New Orleans Times-Picayune.

Never has a law of its importance been more carelessly and clumsily drawn up. It is full of contradictions, and absurdities that no one can understand, and the treasury department has been engaged ever since its passage in explaining it and interpreting what was really intended, and the law was so involved that it is by no means certain that the treasury officials got it right after all.

Then, too, it contains grave injustices and hardships, many cases of double taxation. A holding company and each of the corporations of which it consists must pay taxes. The money made in a speculation must pay on the income, but the money lost in another speculation cannot be deducted. It is certainly the old game of "Heads I win, tails you lose." Finally, attention is called to the hardship and injustice of compelling a corporation to collect the income tax at its source instead of the government being its own tax collector, and it is stated that in some cases companies have been compelled to pay out $7,000 to collect $25,000 for the United States.

Surely, congress will attempt to cure some of these patent defects and give us as good, as clear and as intelligible a law as other countries have on this subject.

A SUBSTITUTE FOR KISSING.

Do "pat-pat." That's the message that E. R. Grover, president of the board of health of Huntington, West Virginia, sends to sweethearts who sit in the moonlight and spoon, to housewives who eat onions, and husbands whose allies are cloves.

Here's how to "pat-pat": A couple osculantly inclined should approach to within handshaking distance, pat each other on the cheeks and smile.

It's a custom in the Dominican republic, says Dr. Grover, and a lot more healthy than shaking.

To our list of factory whistles let's add a few on some boats on the Brazos river.

Harry Lawder has gone to the front to entertain the soldiers of the allies with his singing.

A prominent unmarried man in the city explains his bachelorhood by the declaration that he suffered painter's colic after kissing his best girl.

With Admiral von Tirpitz on vacation and General von Hindenburg taking a day off to go deer hunting, the Teutons evidently have things going their own way in the big war.

The total length of the railways in Spain is now 9,377 miles, of which more than three-quarters is of standard gauge. The receipts of the railways decreased $3,000,000 in 1914 from receipts of 1913.

Since those submarine commanders have such difficulty in complying with the order of their government not to sink boats without warning, we are coming to doubt the efficiency of the wonderful German discipline about which we have heard so much.

Central Texas citizens, farmers and residents alike, should take as much pride in their children as they do in their hogs, horses, cows, chickens, and dogs and enter those children in the better babies contest of the Cotton Palace.

In the hope of making it possible to observe a safe and sane Christmas in Mississippi the prohibition members of the legislature there are going to introduce a bill prohibiting the shipment of liquor into that state between December 15 and 25, inclusive, each year.

The world's copper production in 1914 amounted to $92,085 tons, a decrease of 91,775 tons from that of 1913. There was a falling off of more than 10 per cent in the output of the United States, Spain, Mexico and Austria, but that of Germany, estimated at 20,000 tons, represents an increase of about 5,000 tons over the preceding year.

Talking of editorial courtesy, the following apology by the editor of the Eugenia, Iowa, Times, fills the bill very acceptably: "Gideon Carson of Parsnip Center makes a red-hot objection to our recent assertion that he loves to chew the rag. We apologize. Maybe rag is not the word. But we have seen Gid in action, and we can swear to it and stand pat that he chews, words, wind and whiskers."

IMPORTANT MEETING
Y. M. B. L. TONIGHT

PRESIDENT HUTCHISON URGES DIRECTORS TO BE PRESENT TO CLOSE ADMINISTRATION.

Plans for Trade Trip to Cleburne Tomorrow Will Be Discussed—Teams to Go Out Today.

Many important matters will come up tonight at the last meeting of the present directorate of the Young Men's Business League. President Hutchison urges that every member of the board be present so that the decks may be cleared completely for the incoming administration.

Chairman W. V. Crawford of the committee on the celebration over the completion of the McLennan county good roads system, expects to have a report to submit tonight. The celebration is to be in the nature of a big jubilee, as, when completed, the system will represent the expenditure of $1,075,000, and will be one of the best in the United States, according to road experts who have examined the plans and the work now being done.

One of the principal themes for discussion, however, will be the trade trip to Cleburne tomorrow. This will be the last trip of the season and an effort is being made to get out the largest crowd yet. The trip will be a very attractive one, the outgo trip being over the Katy and the incoming over the Santa Fe. Dinner will be taken at Cleburne and supper at Temple.

Secretary J. T. Joplin of the Cleburne Chamber of Commerce has written to President Hutchison as follows: "Letter received. Glad you are coming again. Come one, come all; we welcome you."

The following teams have been appointed to deliver tickets and to get as many Waco business men as possible to make the trip:

No. 1.—John Reed, S. S. Fleming, R. V. McClain, A. J. Steele.
No. 2.—A. J. Eberhardt, John Wyche, Robert Frazier, Frank J. Trau.
No. 3.—Chas. P. Link, John F. Wright, Charley Anderson, J. J. Hutchison.

Log Cabin to Be Woodman Feature
at Cotton Palace

At a called meeting of the Log Cabin Association of Texas, held at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the log cabin at Cotton Palace park, officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: S. J. Flood, president; J. K. Strecker, vice-president; George Tipton, secretary; and H. L. White, treasurer. Two new directors were elected from each of the local camps of the Woodmen of the World, as follows: Geyser City Camp No. 6, W. E. Smith and F. L. Goose; Waco Camp No. 2042, J. H. Williams and S. J. Odum.
Resolutions were adopted that the Log Cabin be fixed up to entertain the Woodmen and their families who attend the Cotton Palace this fall. Rest rooms will be fitted up to accommodate the families of all sovereigns who attend. J. D. Alexander will be in charge of the cabin during the Cotton Palace, assisted by members of both camps.
The following committee was appointed to raise money to furnish and take care of the cabin: S. J. Flood, chairman; John K. Strecker and George Tipton. The new officers took charge and pledged their loyal support to make Woodmen day, November 18, one of the greatest days of the exposition and to spare no efforts to place the cabin in first-class condition.

Casino Roof Garden
Dances to Continue
Until Frost Comes

The impression has gotten out that the Casino dances have been discontinued. However, the management announces that such is not the case, as they will be given as usual every Tuesday and Friday night until frost.

The dances on the cool and spacious roof garden of the Cameron Park Casino have been proving very popular with the young people of Waco this summer, and they will be pleased to learn that they will continue. The Tuesday night dance will be given tonight, as usual.

Membership Dinner
at Y. M. C. A. Tonight

Members of the Young Men's Christian association will be served a banquet in the association building at 7 o'clock tonight. Every member of the Y. M. C. A. is invited. The feed is in celebration of the successful membership campaign held last week.

W. W. Woodson, chairman of the membership committee, will be the master, and several short talks will be made by members. A musical program has been arranged.

The members of D. P. Wallace's side in the two-day contest will be served with mush and milk. An elaborate spread, consisting of chicken and other delicacies, will be set before the members of W. D. Lacy's side, which won.

The following program has been arranged:
Vocal solo, Wm. Morrow.
"Why We Lost," D. P. Wallace.
"Why We Won," W. D. Lacy, Jr.
"The Association of Today," L. A. Carter of Dallas, state secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

PARK LAWN

If the Park Lawn Cemetery Association pays a certain tax for the upkeep of a driveway through Oakwood Cemetery, thereby making possible a mutual benefit to both cemeteries with probably a saving of expenses to the Oakwood Cemetery Association, the Oakwood Cemetery Association, if it is to be progressive and help the civic conditions of Waco and Waco as a city instead of Waco as a town, should not force its citizens to blocks of unpleasant drive and deprive them of a "Cemetery More Beautiful."

TEMPLE RODEF SHOLOM

ONE OF MOST SOLEMN SERVICES OF SEASON TO BE HELD WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY.

Rabbi Warsaw's New Year's Sermon Will Be on "Servitude and Service"—Special Music Arranged.

Temple Rodef Sholom will have one of the most solemn services of the year on Wednesday and Thursday. The biblical New Year begins with sunset on Wednesday, when every member of the Jewish faith retires from all worldly affairs until sunset on the following day, devoting the day to worship and meditation.

The services on Wednesday evening begin at 7:30 and on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. The music for the day is throughout sacred and inspirational, and will be rendered by a quartet trained for the occasion, under the direction of Professor Porm, the able organist of the temple. The subject of Rabbi Warsaw's New Year's sermon will be "Servitude and Service."

Officer Off Duty
Captures Burglar

Because Mounted Officer John Garrison was still "on the job," despite the fact that he was not on duty, Donescino Arce, Mexican, is in the city jail, and the residence of O. M. Bailey, 616 Maryland street, goes down on the list of the few homes in the city where an attempted burglary was frustrated by a policeman.
Officer Garrison, who received a lay-off Sunday night, on his way home last night about 9 o'clock, saw the Mexican attempting to break into the Bailey residence. The Mexican ran, closely followed by Mr. Garrison, who chased him for several blocks. Shots fired at the fleeing man by the officer aroused residents of the neighborhood, who joined in the chase, and the man was captured at Fifth and Garland streets. Chief McNamara, Officers Rutland and Blair responded to the call and brought the Mexican to the city jail.

BREAKING OUT ON BODY ITCHED

So Bad Could Not Sleep. In Little Red Pimples. In Two Weeks Entirely Well

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"My little boy suffered two weeks with some kind of a breaking out all over his body. It came in little red pimples and it itched so bad he could not sleep at night or in the day. He was cross and fretful all the time and would scratch and irritate his body all over. I saw Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertised and I bought some. In two weeks he was entirely well."

"My little girl suffered with bad eruptions all over her head about three weeks. Nothing did any good until I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and she was perfectly healed in two weeks." (Signed) Mrs. Mollie Rushing, Tyler, Texas, Miss, Feb. 1, 1915.

PAINTERS AND WACO SPLIT ON LAST DAY

MINI BALENTI PICKED IN 1908 AS SECOND ALL-AMERICAN HALFBACK, AND ONE OF THE GREATEST KICKERS AND PUNTERS THAT THE GAME EVER HAS SEEN IN AMERICA, HAS BEEN SECURED TO COACH THE BAYLOR BACK- FIELD DURING THE 1915 FOOTBALL SEASON. Balemti had a wonderful football career. He played with the Cardinals, Indians of the same team with the famous Jim Thorpe. He also spent one season in the U. S. where he was the sensation of Texas football because of his kicking and punting. Many Waco foot- ball enthusiasts will remember how he won a football game against Baylor for Texas A. & M. about a half dozen years ago by a spectacular place kick from the 40-yard line at a most difficult angle, thus making the score 9-6 in favor of the Texas Aggies.

M'IVER'S SINGLE TAKES SECOND

Field Event Held Between the Games.
Hunter's Injury Prevents Him Playing.

Fort Worth, Sept. 6.—Fort Worth divided the double-header which closed the season here today. In the first game the Panthers displayed poor baseball behind Kerr and lost 4 to 0. Melver delivered a single in the sixth inning of the second game, which gave Fort Worth a 3-to-2 victory. Because of an injury received from a spike wound Saturday, Hunter was unable to play. Field events were held between games. The scores:

Waco Players Take Part in Events at Fort Worth Park

Fort Worth, Sept. 6.—The Texas league season was brought to a close here today with an added attraction on the Labor Day program besides the double-header between Waco and Fort Worth, the feature being field games participated in by players of both teams.

The most interesting event was a triangular foot race in which Manager Hardy of the Waco club, Jake Atz of the Panthers and Umpire Moran took part. Atz won easily. The Big Skipper from Waco labored hard, but got only half way to the tape as Jake sauntered across.

Atz won today his eighteenth year as a professional ball player. During the season he played in every game of the Fort Worth games. His last play of the year was to go far into center field in the seventh inning of the second game and pull down Crichtow's Texas leaguer for the last out made by a Waco player.

Following is the summary of the events:
Circling bases—Harper 11-5 seconds; Jordan, 14-25 seconds; Crichtow, 11-35 seconds.
Accurate throwing for catchers won by Toland after Walters, Reilly and Jordan had almost hit target.
Long distance throw won by Harper, 350 feet 3 inches; Grubb second with 370 feet.

In 75-yard dash, Jordan, Harper and Crichtow finished in order given, but closely bunched. Time, 73-5 seconds. Each winner in all the events got a cash prize of $5.

KILBANE BESTS MILLER.

Cedar Point, Ohio, Sept. 6.—Johnny Kilbane of Cleveland, featherweight champion, had little trouble in defending his title against Alvie Miller of Lorain, Ohio, in a 10-round bout here today. Miller was on the defensive most of the time, though he was given the ninth and eleventh rounds because of his aggressiveness and clever footwork.

CAFETERIA PLAYERS REACH THE FINALS

R. N. WILLIAMS LOSES TO WM. M. JOHNSTON IN BRILLIANT MATCH.

YOUNGSTER IS IN GREAT FORM

Nineteen-year-old Youth from Coast Finds Weakness of Champion and Outplays Him.

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 6.—The national lawn tennis championship in singles for 1915 will go to a California player tomorrow unless the local weather man intervenes. Two of the famous native-born players won the right on the courts of the West Side club here this afternoon to meet in the final round of the 35th annual tournament of the national association by eliminating the only two eastern experts left in the tournament, which began a week ago. William M. Johnston of San Francisco eliminated R. Norris Williams II. of Philadelphia in a sensational five-set match 5-7, 6-4, 6-7, 6-2, 6-2, while Maurice McLaughlin of San Francisco, who already holds two legs of the all-comers challenge bowl, put out T. R. Felt of New York, 6-2, 6-0, 7-5, 6-2.

McLaughlin's victory was generally predicted by the tennis experts. In the grueling five-set match witnessed by a holiday gallery which filled every portion of the grandstands and clubhouse veranda, Johnston out-aced and outplayed the famous foreign-coached champion, while his errors in total were a trifle less than those made by Williams.

A stroke analysis for the entire match shows seven service aces for Johnston against five for Williams, who shot the California made fifty to Johnston's 42. The victor drove out of court 39 times to his opponent's 50, but retired himself by holding his netted balls to 40 against Williams' 46. The latter also was guilty of 12 double faults as against Johnston's five.

The 19-year-old Californian out-generalized and outmaneuvered in the playing against the champion, retaining the Longwood cricket club of Boston, it appeared to have discovered weaknesses in the present play of Williams which the latter's previous opponents could not diagnose.

He fought his way to the net in the manner that McLaughlin made famous a few years ago and once there returned the ball at a constantly varying angle, chiefly to Williams' backhand. He did not, however, hold to any set form and when the title holder was expected to whip the ball to Williams' forehand or to some uncovered portion of the court with a sureness and rapidity that in the long run completely broke down the latter's defense.

Williams Made Good Fight. Williams did not go down to defeat without giving strenuous battle and as a result the match was the most sensational of the present tournament. It appeared as if the eastern player held Johnston too easily in the early stages of the match. Johnston opened the first set with service and immediately showed his playing ability by driving back the ball to the net, using his backhand, which is almost as effective as Felt's, and ground and immediately had Williams in difficulties. The latter tried to pass his opponent along the side lines and succeeded in eventually bringing the games to five all, from which point Williams' excellent judgment of distance enabled him to drop the ball set.

Nothing daunted, the Californian returned to the attack and, using his game, won the second set by clever placing, principally from the net, although when Williams succeeded in lodging him from that point of vantage he held his own in the longer stroke game.

The third set was the hardest fought of the entire match. Each won his own service through the tenth game and Johnston, who had been in the lead, and as the play grew faster his superiority over Williams increased. Johnston's play was superb for the remainder of the set, and he clinched the set with a series of brilliant side-line drives which Johnston could not reach.

The younger player from the Pacific coast showed his real courage by continuing to fight out the battle on the lines which he had evidently planned out in advance and as the play grew faster his superiority over Williams increased. Johnston's play was superb for the remainder of the set, and he clinched the set with a series of brilliant side-line drives which Johnston could not reach.

Here's the latest member of the "old jimmy-pipe" club. It's a fine likeness of John E. Bach, 101 years old, of Newark, N. J. He has been a pipe smoker for 80 years. Mr. Bach, who enjoys his smoke every day, gives this idea of a long life. Smoke all you want, eat all you want, sleep all you want—and don't worry!

P. A. is sold every-where in tippy bags (handy for forcible smokers), 5c; tidy red tins, 10c; handsome pound and half-pound tin humidors—and that classy crystal-glass pound humidors with the sponge-moistener top that keeps P. A. bang up.

"P. A." spells tobacco all over the world

Men of all tastes take to Prince Albert pipe and cigarette tobacco like it just about answers all questions! And it does! Quicker you get on speaking terms with this national joy smoke the sooner you'll get a whole lot off your mind. Because, it just hands you more fun than you ever got out of a pipe or makin's cigarette before. The patented process fixes that—and removes the bite and parch.

PRINCE ALBERT the national joy smoke is the one brand of tobacco you can take liberties with, firing away 24-hours straight without a tongue-kick! You get the listen of that.

Cut out lamenting for that old jimmy pipe stored away in the rafters; stop fretting about how you'd like to roll 'em, but you dassn't. Men, you can lay your last cent that you'll be top-notch-ticked if you catch the spirit of this testimony and get some P. A. and go to it! Never did anything but make smokers jimmy pipe joy's and cigarette makin's happy—and that's just what's coming to you!

Can you sit-tight and get that P. A. aroma from somebody else's friendly old pipe or rolled cigarette? Can you pass up pleasure that's due you, and coming to you quick as you jump that fence into the Prince Albert pasture? Come on out and be a regular fellow who's game to take a chance for what ails his smokeappetite division!

"Mr. Byars said that one of the dairies he inspected, that of J. G. Hobbs & Co., was the finest and cleanest he had ever seen in Texas.

"Housewives and people who use milk should investigate its service."

The above is copied from a voluntary statement of Mr. Andy Byars, state pure food inspector, in The Waco Morning News of Saturday, Sept. 4, 1915, and we reproduce it as a matter of interest to the Waco users of milk and cream.

Mrs. Sanford is visiting relatives and friends on her return. She will include Mrs. Gilbert Hay in Raleigh, North Carolina.

Miss Clarence Bruce Brewer of Columbus street will enter Ward-Belmont, Nashville, this year.

When we take our furs from out the moth balls, we, that is, we who are quite up to the latest, will pin a bow of gros grain ribbon with long streamers to the collar clasp. No matter what the color of the fur, this bow must be black. Whether we will exchange for the bunch of violets in Lent remains to be seen.

Mr. Robert Thornton Dennis, with her home coming from Chicago, has introduced with one or two friends, the novelty of the suction holder for single flower, quite an attractive little piece.

News from Mrs. James B. Baker of Houston is ever welcome to family and friends of girlhood days here. Mrs. Baker is in her accustomed summer home, Bass Rock, Massachusetts, where she remains later than usual this season.

Be on the alert, ye bachelors of society, lest a lapse in tongue mark you as provincial. Never again refer to your "dress suit." It must be your "evening clothes," or you are placed as coming from a village.

Is it not in order before the regular club sessions are resumed, for the returned California and Pacific Slope tourists to hold an "experience" meeting? Such would be more than satisfying for the many who have not had the western trip.

It is now about time to report the summer record of Dan Cupid. They say this little fellow is always busier during the season when folks take their vacation. If memory serves, this energetic little worker has never had a vacation since he did his first work in the Garden of Eden.

It looks now as though the Society Ball at the Cotton Palace would be the event for airing the new season dancing frocks.

On Monday, Mrs. E. A. Sturgis and Miss Edwina Sturgis arrived from the house at the Kyle.

Mrs. Beula Landman Stahlner sends note that she and Mr. Stahlner are at the Carlton hotel, Kansas City, Missouri, for the winter.

Society Personals

Among today's arrivals will be that of Mrs. Shirley McCulloch from Austin.

WOMAN'S BEAUTY NO SECRET

It all lies in the care she bestows upon herself and in keeping at bay those dreadful ills peculiar to her sex. The flashing eye, the elastic step and the clear complexion never accompany organic troubles. The distressed expression, lassitude, headaches and mental depression are only the tell-tale symptoms. Women so troubled should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that simple remedy made from roots and herbs, and restore their health to a normal condition.

ALL WACO DOES HONOR TO CAUSE OF LABOR

BUSINESS HOUSES CLOSE WHILE CELEBRATION TAKES PLACE AT COTTON PALACE PARK.

BASKET DINNER ON THE GROUNDS

Speaking and Athletic Events Included in Afternoon Program and Grand Ball at Night.

In line with every other city in the United States, but stamped with its own individuality, Waco celebrated Labor Day yesterday. The business of the entire city stopped to do honor to the laboring man who makes all business possible. The federal, city and county offices were closed. The post-office made only one delivery of mail, and business houses were open only from 10 to 11 in the morning. All banks closed at 1 o'clock, the courthouse in the afternoon, and almost every store and business house in the city was closed all day. The all-day celebration on the Cotton Palace grounds under the auspices of the Central Labor council constituted one of the organized observance, for all over the city stores and business houses, offices and workshops were quiet, while the employees enjoyed labor's holiday, at the celebration on the Cotton Palace grounds, with their families, or at some other form of recreation.

The Central Labor council's celebration closed late last night, when the last strains of "Home, Sweet Home" were played, wafting the dancers of the lateness of the hour. The dance, which was for the benefit of the council, was well attended, more than 200 couples participating, and spectators filling the tiers of seats that line every side from the dance floor. Competition for the prizes for the two-step and the waltz were interesting.

A basket dinner on the grounds yesterday, which was attended by several hundred, began the celebration. The speaking followed the dinner, beginning at 2 o'clock, at which time a large crowd was on the grounds. A. H. B. Corneliusen, E. E. Duke, Justice Giles, E. Lester and City Attorney John Maxwell were the speakers. A band concert was played following the speaking by Bettis' municipal band, the services of which were donated by the city commission.

Ball Crowning Feature.

The ball last night was the crowning feature of the day's celebration. Two hundred couples one-stepped, two-stepped and hesitated through twenty numbers on the splendid floor of the Cotton Palace coliseum. Alessandro's symphony orchestra played for the dances. The grand march was led by George Fields and Mrs. Harry Bate.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Burney, first and W. D. Overly, second, received the decision of the judges for gracefulness in the waltz. R. D. Trail, with Miss Eda Traub, and Lee Boggs, with Miss Nell Thompson, were the victors in the two-step. The judges were: A. A. Kowalski, C. A. Greene, W. A. Halliday, Miss Fay Tillis and H. L. White.

J. C. Hill, a member of the International Typographical union, was adjudged the oldest union man on the grounds yesterday, presenting a typographical working card dated October 1870, forty-five years old. W. T. Hater, with a Branch of Locomotive Engineers card, dated November, 1886, was the next oldest.

A. H. B. Corneliusen received the prize for the union man who could show the greatest number of his clothing. Mr. Corneliusen wore 21 labels.

Miss May Jenkins received the prize for selling the greatest number of tickets to the ball last night.

Crowds that walked about the quadrangle where the games and athletic events were held, occupying all the remaining part of the afternoon. Prizes for the winners in the various events were donated by Waco merchants.

E. W. Conway, physical director of the Young Men's Christian association, was in charge of the games, and was assisted by a number of Y. M. C. A. workers.

Giving to the confusion incident to the large crowd at the celebration yesterday afternoon and last night, a number of the prizes were not announced. The remaining awards will be made to the winners notified by the committee.

"Passing the Milestone" was the title under which A. H. B. Corneliusen, representative of the Central Labor council, reviewed conditions and happenings of the past year as they have affected the working man. Mr. Corneliusen extended the Labor Day greetings of the Central Labor council to all present. Stating that no address of the kind could be made considering the past year without referring to the European war, Mr. Corneliusen took up that feature as it is affecting the working man. It is the working man and the working man's family that is paying the cost of the war, he said, and said that the heart of the American working man goes out in sympathy to his brother in the trenches on the other side of the ocean.

Organized labor in the United States should be thankful for the circumstance that they are free to pursue peaceful occupations and are not being subjected to the horrors of a war into which some are trying to thrust them, he said. Referring to local conditions, Mr. Corneliusen said that the union of Waco is in excellent shape, that some crafts have 100 per cent of workmen in the union. He said these stronger unions should assist the weaker to completely organize every trade that is practiced in the city.

E. E. Duke, introduced as the president of the Central Labor council, delivered an eloquent address on "Loyalty to Our Principles." Loyalty is an asset in life, said Mr. Duke. He urged his hearers to show their loyalty to their country, to the home institutions of their city, to every public enterprise of their city, and to every principle of their union.

Achievements of Labor.

Mr. Duke pointed to the mechanics' lien law, the 54-hour law for women and children, and the workmen's compensation law, as some of the achievements of organized labor of Texas. He said that unions are free to educate their children, believing that it is the safest guard that can be thrown about them. He impressed upon parents their responsibility for the success or failure of their children. He resented any insinuation that trades unions are erratic and stubborn. He said that in grievances with employers the true union man meets the issue fairly and above board. He said the union stands for diplomatic relations between employer and employee and does not approve of force in settling difficulties.

Justice Giles P. Lester delivered an address in praise of labor and the laboring man, declaring that the sentiment of the world was growing in favor of the principles for which unionism has stood for years. He urged that union men see that laws favorable to labor are enforced, and to avoid strikes when possible. He favored a board of arbitration of impartial men for settlement of difficulties between employer and employee, and declared that the true union man would always be true standing by a fair decision.

City Attorney Maxwell Speaks.

The home as the training school of the future citizenship, and the woman as the dominant force in the making of human destiny were eloquently pictured in the address of City Attorney John Maxwell. Mr. Maxwell remarked upon the presence of a large number of women and children on the grounds. He said that the women and children were always the first to feel the press of misfortune. When the war depression brought almost suffering to some in this country he said the men could be found still clinging to the little luxuries that they had been accustomed to indulge themselves in, while the women and the children in the homes felt the first pinch. Mr. Maxwell urged that the trades unions pursue every means and wish for the little luxuries that they had been accustomed to indulge themselves in, while the women and the children in the homes felt the first pinch. Mr. Maxwell urged that the trades unions pursue every means and wish for the little luxuries that they had been accustomed to indulge themselves in, while the women and the children in the homes felt the first pinch.

American laboring men, he said, could be glad that they are living in a country where they are free to pursue peaceful pursuits, where a whole nation stops to honor them with the observance of Labor Day, and where speech is free. He congratulated the local council on its wisdom and discretion in dealing with employers in the city, and that in spite of the bad year that has passed there are no cases of dire distress. He wished for the council and for all Waco laboring men increased prosperity during the next year, and ever-increasing thereafter.

Second Trip Is Won to San Francisco by Davis Stribling

A second trip to California has been won in the contest of the Aetna Insurance company by Davis Stribling of E. W. Marshall & Co., according to word received by him yesterday. He won the first trip for increase shown in business received and the second for doubling the per cent of increase. Mr. Stribling will take his mother, Mrs. R. J. Stribling, with him on the trip, leaving here the latter part of October.

Central Christian Endeavor Society to Have Departments

Introducing a new plan of work, the Central Christian church decided last night to organize three general departments instead of a number of smaller committees. The look-out partner will have as its superintendent, Miss Nell Scott, the social department, Miss Ruth Rayburn, and the prayer meeting department, N. R. Skinner.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: T. E. Leach, president; Archie Gee, vice-president; Miss Edith Harrison, secretary; Ernest Harrison, treasurer, and Miss Nell Scott, pianist.

LIBERTY BELL WILL PAY VISIT TO WACOMAYOR RECEIVES ASSURANCE FROM PHILADELPHIA THAT
RELIC WILL BE HERE.Exact Date to Be Announced as Soon as Complete Itinerary for Return Trip Is Made Out.

The Liberty Bell will visit Waco on its way back to Philadelphia from San Francisco, definite word to that effect having been received here yesterday by Mayor Higgins. The date will be announced as soon as the full itinerary is made out. On receipt of the good word, Mayor Higgins at once communicated with the presidents of the Cotton Palace Association, Chamber of Commerce and Y. M. B. L., advising them of the fact and promising the city's co-operation in taking care of the priceless relic. Mayor Higgins also wrote a letter to the mayor of Philadelphia, earnestly and cordially inviting him to be in Waco when the Liberty Bell is here.

The letter received by Mayor Higgins, his response and his letter to the presidents of the three Waco business organizations are as follows:

Hon. J. W. Higgins,

Waco, Texas.

Dear Sir:

It gives me pleasure to inform you that the committee on itinerary for the return of the Liberty Bell has included your city among the stops. It is the desire of the committee that any arrangements for the reception of this historical relic be under the supervision and direction of the municipal authorities.

As soon as the itinerary (showing the time of arrival in your city and length of stop) is printed, I will mail you a copy.

Respectfully yours,
(Signed) CHARLES SEGER,
Chairman.Mr. Charles Seger, Chairman,
Special Committee Liberty Bell,
Philadelphia, Pa.

My Dear Sir: I thank you for your favor of the 2nd. It is my pleasure to inform you that the citizenship of Waco sincerely thanks you for this favor, and also it is my pleasure to say that the municipality of Waco shall take great pleasure in performing any offices required by your committee, and we will see that the historic relic is properly protected while in our city.

In this connection, we desire to say that we extend you and as many of your committee as possible, an invitation to visit Waco at the time the bell is here as guests of the city of Waco and shall take pleasure in extending to you every possible courtesy and the hospitality for which our city is widely known.

Any further information touching the visit of the bell to Waco I shall be glad to give you as soon as I receive the itinerary promised.

We shall send a direct invitation to the mayor of Philadelphia and shall be pleased indeed to have him present, if possible.

Yours very respectfully,

J. W. HIGGINS, Mayor,

Asher Sanger, President,
Texas Cotton Palace.

Gentlemen:

For your information, I beg to submit the following letter, which has come to me and you will please note contents. In this connection, I desire to say that I am extending an invitation to the mayor of Philadelphia to be present at the time this bell is in Waco and I shall be glad to extend an invitation to such other distinguished citizens as you may suggest. I give the letter below.

You will note from this letter that the reception of the Liberty Bell shall be under the direction and supervision of the municipal authorities. I am pleased to say that the government will be glad to comply with the directions and to offer in every particular its aid and such requirements as may be put upon the city.

Yours respectfully,

J. W. HIGGINS, Mayor.

GLASSY ACTS AT ORPHEUM

Australian Creightons and Angelo

Armento, Acrobats, Exceptionally Good Performers.

QUEEN TODAY.

"The Incurable Dukane"

John Barrymore, whose tremendous success in the Famous Players Film company's production of "The Man from Mexico," "Are You a Mason?" and "The Dictator" has gained for him a world-wide reputation as a screen comedian, is now being seen by large, laughing, side-splitting audiences at the Queen theatre in that company's five-part film version of the comedy melodrama, "The Incurable Dukane," by George C. Shedd.

From the very opening of this extraordinary feature, John Barrymore impresses his large audience that not only is he supreme as a screen comedian, but that in more dramatic moments he measures favorably with any of the dramatic screen artists as told by the circumstances bring him out to the big dim being built by his wealthy father in the garb of a tramp, his own clothes having been stolen from him previously, he finds many golden opportunities of conveying the

With two numbers that might properly lay claim to rank with high-class vaudeville anywhere in the country and with two others that are quite fair, the managers of the Orpheum opened their second week's offering to a highly pleased audience last night.

The Australian Creightons, pot pourri artists, are about the classiest, cleverest and most versatile performers that have ever come to this city. One could go to the best vaudeville houses of the country without finding any better juggling than these young fellows put on, their stunts being marked by cleverness and dexterity of mind, eye and body. Their stunts are original and novel and altogether interesting.

On the same high plane are the three members of the Angelo Armento company, Japanese acrobats and tumblers. Their work is as quick as lightning, full of daring and as clever as one will find anywhere. And then the performers are such likable fellows. Their fine dispositions catch the sympathy and admiration of the audience no less readily than their superb performances and they are well worth seeing. Both they and the Australian Creightons are from fast company and that artists of their caliber should come to Waco before the support of this town for vaudeville of that class has been fully established is entirely to the credit of the Orpheum management.

Stone & King, in a comedy skit of talk and song, are very acceptable. They sing well, some of their jokes have good point and having more personality than the average person undertaking stunts of that character, they get by with it all in good manner.

Blanche Colvin in a song monologue is only fair. She does not sing overly well, neither does she demonstrate any particular art in dancing. She goes through some very valuable physical culture stunts in the name of dancing that are interesting and her songs were of a nature to catch the audience, more, however, from their nature than their rendition.

The same bill will be presented through Wednesday with daily matinees at 2 p. m. and evening performances at 7:30 and 9 o'clock. An orchestra furnished good music and a half hour of picture precedes each performance.

"Tricks of Fate."

Produced by Pathe and presented in two parts, "Tricks of Fate," the offering at the Hippodrome today only, should prove a pleasing drama with a strong moral, when provided with the customary demand in the way of a punch.

The death of their only child completely stuns the Prestons. The grief-stricken couple, hearing a slight sound at the outer door, investigate and find a deserted infant, which they decide to adopt. Jim Blake, a vagrant, has seen the child left there by a mulatto woman, who he thinks must be the mother. Blake decides to keep his secret. The only clue to the identity of the baby is a locket engraved with the name Naida.

Years pass and Naida, who shows no trace of negro blood, grows to a maid, ignorant of her real parentage. One day Blake calls at the Preston home and tells Naida's foster-father that he can prove that her mother is a mulatto woman and will remain silent only if paid to do so. Preston satisfies the blackmail, but Naida overhears the terrible disclosure. That night, overcome by the dreadful knowledge of her parentage, she silently leaves her home and goes to the city. Her foster-parents and her fiancé are plunged in despair by her disappearance.

Naida, who supports herself through her musical ability, engages a maid. She later meets Blake, who tells her how he saw her deserted years before by this same woman. Through a musical professor, who befriended her, Naida's fiancé learns of her whereabouts and calls on her. She confesses her dreadful secret to him, but is overheard by the colored maid, who then discloses the fact that Naida's real mother was a white woman. She died soon after her child was born, owing to the shock occasioned by her husband's tragic death. Being too poor to support the child herself, the maid, in whose care the child was left, hearing of the Preston's loss, left Naida to be found by them. The maid's story dispels the clouds which enveloped Naida's life and once more the happy family is brought together.

"Whiffles Goes Two Ways" is a comedy on the same program, which concludes with a new Pathe News.

ROTARIANS WILL HELP BRING NAVIGATION

R. J. POTTS TELLS OF ENTHUSIASM MET IN TRIP TAKEN DOWN BRAZOS.

Two New Members Elected—Miss Austin Parks Gives Humorous Readings.

The Rotary club will lend its full co-operation in the effort to bring about the early navigation of the Brazos river.

R. J. Potts, expert engineer, member of the local club and who accompanied the Waco party on the "Navigation Special" down the Brazos valley last Friday and Saturday and outlined the plans in mind for the reclamation of the valley lands from overflows by the construction of an adequate levee system, told the club yesterday of the manner in which the Waco delegation was received and of the spirit in which the most substantial business element of the cities visited last week pledged their hearty co-operation to the plan to navigate the stream and protect the valley lands from high waters. His report was an enthusiastic one and was cordially received.

Secretary H. M. Cox read a letter of thanks from the Dallas Rotary club for the action of the Waco organization in pledging its support to Dallas in that city's efforts to land the national democratic convention next year, and writing all the other Rotary clubs of the United States and asking them to co-operate in the effort to aid Dallas.

Prof. F. W. Horn, superintendent of the Houston public schools, and one of the leading educators of the state, and who is in the city addressing the county teachers' institute, addressed the club briefly, referring joyfully to the outcome of last year's baseball season and informing the Wacoans that Houston this year conceded the pennant to this city. As a special message to the Rotarians he urged that everyone who had not done so make a special study of the new international constitution of Rotary, declaring it to be one of the finest pronouncements of exalted business ethics he had ever seen.

Perry Duncan of August A. Busch & Co., the regular orator of the day, pleaded lack of notification as to his part in the program but made an impromptu observation on crop and business conditions that was well received.

Impromptu addresses were made by the visitors, including J. F. Davis, third cavalry, Fort Sam Houston, who is visiting his brother-in-law, R. J. Potts of this city, while on route to the border where he will assist in quelling the Mexicans, C. H. Harrison and Clarence Connolly, farmer, of Eddy.

Among the women visitors were Mrs. R. J. Potts and Miss Anita Park and Deedee Hickman of Bryan, who are visiting Mrs. Potts, and as a special compliment to the club Miss Park gave two humorous readings, one of them being a little girl's dissertation on "Husbands" and the other a bit of advice to men, the latter being furnished with a musical interpolation. The Rotarians enjoyed the readings immensely, the more so from the excellent interpretations given them by Miss Park, who is recalled as the reader who accompanies the A. and M. college glee club.

James G. Taylor, manager of the Postal Telegraph company, and Roy E. Lane, architect, were elected to membership, filling the vacancies in those classifications.

J. E. Turner was toastmaster yesterday and announced the program for next Monday to include Sheriff S. S. Fleming as toastmaster, C. H. Ruebeck as regular orator, and a special address on Brazos navigation by J. C. Ballard, traffic expert, who will speak by special invitation.

Rules of the Contest

Any white man or woman, boy or girl, of good repute, of any age, living anywhere in the territory embraced in this contest is permitted to enter and compete for the prizes.

To enter the race, clip out the nomination coupon on this page. Fill in your name and address or that of some friend or relative, and send to the Waco Morning News Contest Department today. It costs you nothing to enter and costs your friends nothing to vote for you.

No employee of the News or member of his or her family will be permitted to participate in this contest as a contestant.

In case of a tie the value of the prize will be equally divided between the tying contestants.

Votes issued to one candidate cannot be transferred or changed to the credit of another.

Candidates and their friends are not restricted to securing votes and subscriptions in their own district, but may secure them anywhere in the United States.

Any question that may arise between the contestants not covered by the rules in this contest will be determined by the Contest Manager. And his decision will be absolutely final.

Besides votes allowed on prepaid subscriptions, a coupon good for certain number of votes will be published in each issue of the News until further notice. Each coupon printed will be limited and must be cast in the News office before expiration of the date printed thereon, which will be twelve days after publication.

Candidates in one district do not compete with those in another district. The division of districts so equalizes competition that each contestant has an equal chance to win a prize.

Votes cannot be bought or sold or traded. They can be obtained only by paying a subscription for the News or by clipping the daily ballot from the paper.

The right is reserved to reject the name of any candidate who does contrary to the rules set forth herein, and the News reserves the privilege to alter and provide additional regulations if the occasion should so demand.

Votes obtained on subscriptions can be held in reserve until the closing day of the contest or at the discretion of the candidate.

How the Prizes Will Be Awarded

The judges at the finish of the contest will be guided by the following rules and regulations:

First Prize in Each District.

The lady or gentleman having the largest number of votes in each of the three districts at the close of the contest will each be awarded a five-passenger Ford touring car, valued at $475.

Second Prize in Each District.

The lady or gentleman having the second largest number of votes in each of the three districts at the close of the contest will each be awarded a $300 lot in one of the additions to the city of Waco.

Third Prize in Each District.

The lady or gentleman having the third largest number of votes in each of the three districts at the close of the contest will each be awarded a $25 solid gold watch, either lady's or gentleman's.

Cheering Crowds Met Survivors of Arabic

ARABIC SURVIVORS ARRIVING IN NEW YORK

In the accompanying illustration is shown a group of survivors of the Arabic, which was sunk by a German submarine. The photograph was taken on the arrival in New York of the steamer St. Paul, which brought to this country many of the Arabic's passengers. When the boat landed there was a big crowd on the pier, and the crowd cheered as the Arabic passengers came down the gangplank. In the accompanying group from left to right are: Aubrey Guler and Chris, John and Jack Martin, known as the Flying Martins; Mr. and Mrs. Philus Collier, W. E. Ramsdell, John Critchley, Mrs. W. E. Dunlop, Teresa O'Farrell and Claude M. Roode.

Funds for Waco Schools $15,000 Less This Year by State Board's Action

Waco schools will be poorer by $15,000 as a result of the action of the state school board in placing the per capita apportionment of the state school fund at $8 this year, instead of $9, as at last year, declares Prof. B. B. Cobb, superintendent of the public schools. While last year's apportionment was $8 per capita, only $7 of that apportionment was ever paid as the proceeds available never reached the sum that it was calculated they would.

As the expenditures of the local schools were based upon the $8 apportionment, the school board had to borrow several thousand dollars to carry forward the work as it was outlined last year, and this will have to be paid back this year.

In addition to the deficit on last year's apportionment and the smaller apportionment made this year, the school board will have to face an additional cost of about $4,000 this year, due to the decision of the water board to charge the school board water rent. This will make a total cost of $19,000 which the school authorities had not contemplated, and to meet which rigid economy and some retrenchment will have to be exercised. Prof. Cobb says a number of improvements that had been contemplated for the year will have to be deferred as a result of this.

COOKING EXHIBIT FOR COTTON PALACE

GIRLS' COOKING AND CANNING CLUBS WILL HAVE BOOTH AND GIVE DEMONSTRATIONS.

BOHEMIAN DAY ON NOVEMBER 16

Date for Y. M. B. L. Day Changed and Arrangements Made for Special Dairyman's Day.

Demonstrations of canning and cooking by the Girls' Canning and Cooking clubs will be on of the features of the Cotton Palace this year. Mrs. J. L. Landrum, representative of the home economics department of the state board of agriculture, was here from Austin last night and arranged with the Cotton Palace directors for space, not only for the demonstration but for an interesting exhibit of the work being done by the girls.

There are twenty-two clubs in various places in Texas at this time with a total membership of 1,424 girls. Mrs. Landrum will commence at once organizing clubs in McLennan county and hopes to have seven or eight organized by the time the exposition opens. She promises that the display here will be entirely different from any ever given any place in the state.

A committee, representing the Bohemians, consisting of Method Pazzal, Victor Runata, W. H. Woytek, Joe Janek and Frank Koton appeared before the board in the interest of Bohemian Day, which was set on Tuesday, November 16. The Bohemians have already organized and are planning to make their day bigger than it has ever been before. They hope to run special excursions and to draw fellow countrymen from all parts of Texas.

The date for Y. M. B. L. Day was changed from Tuesday, November 16, to Monday, November 15. It was reported last night that the Y. M. B. L. is planning to make Y. M. B. L. Day this year the greatest of the entire exposition, to bring representatives from every Y. M. B. L. in Texas here and to put on several unique entertainment stunts.

W. V. Crawford, Seth N. Mayfield, W. W. Pryor and Clarence H. Cox were appointed a special committee to arrange for a press box in the coliseum. A special box will be built for the active newspapermen, to be used by them in getting the news of the various events. This box will be reserved for the men who are reporting the events on the coliseum floor, and nobody else will be admitted.

A new feature this year will be Dairyman's Day. Ralph McLendon was appointed chairman of a committee to work up interest in the day and to prepare details to make it a success. Mr. McLendon was authorized to appoint the other members of the committee.

General satisfaction was expressed last night with the progress of preparations for the exposition, which, the directors believe, will be more interesting and attractive than ever before.

Negro Horse Thief Wanted Here Caught by Belton Sheriff

Charlie Towers, a negro employed at the State House, missed his horse and buggy the night of July 28. Both horse and buggy were recovered at Belton and a negro who gave his name as Charlie Thomas, who had then, arrested by Sheriff Hugh Smith of Belton county the next day. It was not until yesterday, however, that the property was actually identified after Sheriff Smith had gone back to Belton and brought Thomas back.

When Sheriff Smith arrested Thomas, he sent out descriptive cards but somehow they failed to reach Sheriff Fleming's office until Saturday. Thomas had told several stories of how he came into possession of the outfit, but nothing definite could be learned. Getting tired of keeping a man apparently not wanted anywhere, Sheriff Smith turned Thomas over Saturday. When he was notified that the man was wanted in Waco, he caught him again before he had a chance to leave Belton.

HILL'S DAIRY EMPLOYEE ARDENT CHAMPION

MRS. J. D. CECIL WAS IN WRETCHED SHAPE AND SUFFERED MUCH—NOW IMPROVING.

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 2, 1915.—Mrs. J. D. Cecil, who is connected with Hill's Dairy, is an ardent champion of the merits of Tanlac since she began taking it some time ago. Mrs. Cecil lives on Dealy avenue, Dallas, and her statement follows:

"I was in wretched shape from the effects of a run-down condition and had been feeling badly for months and it seemed a great effort for me to muster sufficient energy to attend to my duties. I also suffered from biliousness, which made me sluggish and further contributed to my run-down condition."

"I saw from the newspapers what Tanlac was doing for other Dallas people and a little over a week ago I bought a bottle. After taking it a few days I felt invigorated and rapidly regained my appetite and I can now enjoy my meals. I think Tanlac is the best tonic I ever used. It, consequently, gives me great pleasure to recommend it to those in the same condition that I was in. I am now here for my second bottle."

Tanlac will continue to be explained at W. B. Morrison's Old Corner Drug store.

BIG NEWS CONTEST MEETS WITH FAVOR

SEVERAL NOMINATIONS MADE AND LARGE NUMBER OF INQUIRIES RECEIVED.

PLAN IS GIVEN IN DETAIL

Ford Automobiles First Prize in Each of the Three Districts Enumerated.

The announcement made Sunday by the Waco Morning News that it would give away three five passenger Ford automobiles and fifteen other prizes in a popular voting contest has met with popular favor in all sections.

Already there have been several who have entered the contest, and a large number of others have made inquiries concerning the manner in which the contest would be conducted and the number of votes which would be issued upon payment of subscriptions, etc. On another page in this issue the News prints the full particulars concerning this gigantic contest. We urge everyone to read the plan and proposition in full. Next you should clip out the required of you to win a gift is to spend some of your time in securing votes.

Votes are what will win the prizes, and votes are obtained in two ways. First by clipping ballots from each issue of the paper; second, by securing subscriptions to the Morning News. The first voting ballot will appear in next Sunday's News. It will be good for five votes and the contestants and their friends can clip out as many of these ballots as possible. But before you can secure any votes you must first send in your name to the Contest Department of the Morning News and have your name entered in the list. This contest is going to close at 8 p. m. on Thursday, November 11. The territory has been divided into three districts. District one is the city of Waco. District two comprises the following towns: McGregor, Gatesville, Hamilton, Moody, Crawford, Whitney, Aquilla, West Hillsboro, Mart, Marlin, Temple, Rosebud, Eiesel, Hubbard City, Mount Calm, Corsicana, Lott, Chilton, Rockdale, Cameron, Calver, Hebron, Bryan, Dawson, Malone, Meridian, Valley Mills, Groesbeck and Mexia. District three will comprise all towns and rural territory not mentioned in districts one and two.

This one and two will be three five passenger, latest model, Ford touring cars given to the lady or gentleman in each of the three districts who receives the most votes. In other words the person who receives the most votes residing in district one will be awarded a Ford automobile. The lady or gentleman in district two who receives the most votes will be awarded a Ford automobile, and the lady or gentleman residing in district three who receives the most votes will be awarded a Ford automobile.

The three contestants who finish second in each district will each be awarded a $300 residence building lot located in an addition to the city of Waco.

The three contestants who obtain the third largest vote in their respective districts will each be awarded a beautiful $100 genuine diamond ring. The three who finish fourth in their respective districts will each be awarded a $75 commercial course in Waco Business colleges.

The three who finish fifth in their respective districts will each be awarded a $50 diamond.

The three who finish sixth in their respective districts will each be awarded a $25 solid gold watch.

Those who enter the contest are confined to their own districts in securing votes. You can secure votes any place in the United States, but you will be listed in the district in which you reside.

The object of having the various districts is to make the contest equal to all contestants. Those who live in the city of Waco are not required to compete with those in other towns and vice versa. The thing to do right now is to clip out the nomination coupon printed in the full page advertisement on another page of this issue and send in your name at once. Then secure a subscription book and start to work.

TEACHERS HEAR TALK ON RURAL SCHOOLS

C. J. BROWN OF LOUISIANA GIVES INTERESTING ILLUSTRATED LECTURE.

INSTITUTE STARTS OFF FINE

Opening Enrollment Is 227—Program for Today Includes Address on Singing, Among Other Things.

An illustrated lecture on "Rural School Houses," by C. J. Brown, rural supervisor of the extension department of the University of Louisiana, Baton Rouge, at Carroll Chapel, was last night's feature of the McLennan County Teachers' Institute, which began yesterday morning. The opening enrollment was 227 and more teachers are expected in this morning.

Miss Mabel Quay will address the institute this morning on "School Singing," and Prof. P. W. Horne, superintendent of the Houston schools, will also make an address. The session for the morning will be at 10:45 and will be on teaching the subject of spelling. There will be four sections, each being taught the same subject. This afternoon the teachers of the various towns will meet in sections, each presided over by their superintendent, and the country schools will form a separate section with county Superintendent R. L. Abbott leading them.

An invitation was extended to all the teachers yesterday to attend the lecture on "Meteorology" Thursday night to be given by Dr. L. Block, official weather observer for The Morning News and the city of Waco, at his residence, 114 North Tenth street. Dr. Block will explain the use of the various instruments by which readings are taken, showing the instruments in illustration.

Mr. Brown's lecture last night was his second of the day. He showed pictures of good schools and bad schools, small schools and large schools, and explained the why and wherefore of each. He advocated principally consolidated schools, saying that the one-teacher school could never be a very efficient one. The more teachers, the better chances there were for a good school, he said. Mr. Brown proved himself a very entertaining talker and those in charge of the institute are congratulating themselves on having secured him.

The first address yesterday morning was by Mr. Horn. He said, in part:

"Young teachers should be careful not to cross ideas with their commitments. They should have their own clear views of questions, but should advocate them diplomatically."

"Educational viewpoints are changing. Teachers should not be hampered by traditions, but should keep in touch with new tendencies."

"Don't apologize for what you don't know."

"Plan your work ahead."

"Read school journals and other publications that will keep you abreast of the times."

"There are four ways in which a teacher is young—in years, in service, in locality and in mental attitude. The most difficult problem, and the most important problem facing the teacher is to keep the mental attitude of youth, a receptive mind."

"A young teacher should contribute enthusiasm to his community. The more he increases his knowledge and experience, the more he should contribute enthusiasm."

"A teacher should sympathize with children, but not to the extent of ignoring right and justice."

Mr. Brown also spoke yesterday morning, stressing the needs of teaching the three "R's"—reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic—which he said would always form the elements of good education. While the work might be modified, he said that no country school could obtain first class results unless the three were made the leading subjects.

Mrs. J. L. Landrum of Austin, representative of the home economics department of the state board of agriculture, is here as one of the speakers and is stressing the organization of girls' cooking and canning clubs. She is working especially to interest rural teachers in the work.

The county institute for negro teachers is being held at Paul Quinn college, the dates covering the same period as the white teachers' institute.

School Days Are Almost Here—Outfit the Children at the Sanger Store. Dependable Quality, Correct Styles and Moderate Prices

The Public Schools will open September 20th and it is high time to begin outfitting the children for school. The greater Sanger stocks of children's wearables, backed by the fact that here dependable qualities, correct styles and moderate prices point the way to true economy, should cause every mother to turn to this store for the children's school wearables and other needs.

CITY NEWS BRIEFS

A false fire alarm was turned in about 7:55 last night from Fifth and Jefferson streets.

The city school board will meet Wednesday to discuss plans for the opening of the public schools, and for the coming term.

With the postoffice, court house, the banks and many of the stores and offices closed yesterday, Waco spent a very quiet Labor Day, so far as the business section was concerned.

A petition in voluntary bankruptcy was filed in the federal court here yesterday by William Tubbs, a West merchant. Liabilities are listed at $2,095, assets at $2,911 and exemptions at $1,250.

The warm weather yesterday, combined with Labor Day, resulted in a large number of Wacoans going for picnic parties to Cameron park, the Bosque and other places where there is plenty of shade.

Proceeding the membership banquet a board of directors meeting of the Y. M. C. A. will be held tonight at the building. The meeting will begin at 8:15 and will set out in time for the banquet which starts at 7 o'clock.

D. C. Bolinger, Jr., is visiting relatives and friends in Waco. Mr. Bolinger has been in various parts of South and Central America constructing plants for the United Fruit company. He is an electrical engineer, and attended the Waco public schools. His headquarters for some time have been in Guatemala.

Announcement was made yesterday that the Majestic theatre had been
